LDK Consultants participated at the 3rd international exhibition ECOTEC'10

LDK Consultants engineering & consulting international group of companies participated successfully at the 3rd international exhibition ECOTEC – Environmental technologies & Photovoltaic systems, which took place at the Expo Athens exhibition centre in Anthoussa area of Athens, Greece, from Thursday, April 22nd, to Sunday, April 25th, 2010. More than 250 exhibitors from Greece and other 16 countries world-wide presented products, technologies and services towards sustainability, to an international audience of more than 18,000 visitors, according to the organisers' estimation.

LDK Consultants presented the activities of the group's Environment and Energy business units, focusing on issues of current interest such as waste and wastewater management, energy auditing, renewable energy sources use and implementation, environmental management, climate change and water resources management. At the same time, particular attention was given to the group's competitive advantage to provide integrated and vertical services for projects or programmes of any scale in its fields of expertise, guaranteeing quality standards and competitive pricing.
